

Data Analyst

Full-time/Part-time (Linz)

Starting now!

Your territory

As part of our Business Intelligence team you will:

- Create, develop and optimize analysis and data queries
- Clean up data and prepare it for analyses
- Create new fundamentals for the analyses by transforming and accumulating data
- Prepare reports and dashboards for the management and other departments
- Analyse results, derive recommendations for action and support company-wide decisions
- Use Machine Learning for advanced analytics
- Work in a data-driven, innovative company
- Bring in your ideas and improvements to actively contribute to the company's success. You will never hear "...because we always did it like that" again
- Continuously develop yourself personally and professionally. You will take ownership of areas that strengthen your potential and you will be able to attend workshops to learn new skills according to your experience and interests

Your profile

Key requirements:

- Good knowledge of SQL and the management of relational databases
- Experience with working with big amount of data
- First experience with data visualization software
- Ideally experience with document-oriented databases (MongoDB) and Amazon Redshift DB
- Ideally experience in the area of Machine Learning
- Very good English skills

Does this sound like you?

- Strong analytical mind who enjoys problem solving
- Meticulous and detail oriented
- Passion for data and analyses
- Willing to come and work with our fantastic team in Austria

So you know what to expect: For this position we offer a competitive overpayment based on qualifications and experiences. The yearly gross salary is between € 30,000 and € 50,000 on a full-time basis.

Apply now!